GEOCACHING

Geocaching 101 Class
Saturday, September 19, 2015 at 10am
Roxbury Senior Center
72 Eyland Ave, Succasunna
Please register at www.hikeroxbury.org

Discover the fun of geocaching! Geocaching is an adventurous activity like a modern day scavenger hunt which ties technology and nature together and is enjoyable for any age. Join us for an introduction on the basics of Geocaching and learn how to research and locate geocaches, and then try your hand at hunting for hidden caches in Roxbury Township!

In cooperation with the Roxbury Township Department of Recreation, and the Northern New Jersey Cachers, a Geocaching informational seminar will be held at the Roxbury Township Senior Center, located at 72 Eyland Avenue, in Succasunna, NJ, on Saturday, September 19th, 2015. Class starts at 10am.

Geocaching is a fun filled adventure for all ages. With a GPS receiver, and the Internet, you are ready to explore and search for a "geocache" almost anywhere in the world. You will enjoy the thrill of the hunt but the real discovery is the countless locations of natural beauty and historical interest you will find that you never knew existed.

This event is a great chance for those who know nothing or little about Geocaching. Come learn an introduction into Geocaching basics, or come learn more advanced techniques from experienced Geocachers at the Geocaching Meet and Greet which will follow the seminar. Everyone is welcome to enjoy this "hands on" demonstration, and experience this growing family activity. The workshop is being offered to introduce new participants to the basics of geocaching and understand the geocaching website.

After the seminar, local caches will be visited for new geocachers to use their new found skills. Please dress according to the weather for the day, and wear the appropriate outdoor footwear (hiking boots). Having a GPS reciever (GPSr), or access to a smart phone with a geocaching app, would be highly recommended as well.